APPOMATTOX MAY GET COLONY FROM PANAMA

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Appoint to X. Va., May S.—On a special car of the Norfolk and Western Railway, with F. H. Lebaume in charge, a number of men representing the Southern Settlement and Development Organization, of Baltimore, arrived this morning for the purpose of locating permanently a colony of fifty or sixty people from Panama. The first place visited was the Appoint to Agricultural High School, and later they drove out in the surrounding county to look for desirable localities. It was stated that they were to stop at only three points in Virginia, Appomattox being one. The citizens are very anxious to secure this colony, as it will mean small farms and intensive farming.

NO ACTION IS PROBABLE ON "TROUBLESOME TWINS"

Prohibition and Woman Suffrage Amendments Now Rest on House Calendar.

CAN BE SET ASIDE AT ANY TIME

Efforts Being Made by Friends of Both Measures to Have Rule Reported CARTER JONES NOT A CANDIDATE Fixing Date for Consideration.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, May S.--It is rather improbable that either of the "Trouble-some Twins," the Hobson constitusome Twins," the Hobson constitu-tional amendment to prohibit traffic in Houor, and the Mondell constitutional amendment to grant woman suffrage, will be adopted by Congress at this ession, unless some extraordinary velopments occur to place the Itouse and Senate in a position where inaction is no longer possible. Through being reported back to the ters;" they have no right of way over other privileged matters, and can be set aside at any time by a call for the ununished business.

The majority opinion in the House is that with the present condition of the House calendar, unless the session is protracted quite far into the summonths, say after August 15, there will be but small opportunity for the House to take up either of the "Twins."

There are several more appropriation bills to be passed by the House, and these have the right of way as the undhished business. On Wednesday, ununished business. On Wednesday, known in the House as "Calendar Wednesday," any matter on the calendar can be brought up by gaining unantmous consent, and it is doubtful if unanimous consent can be secured for either of the constitutional amendments. On the calendar just at present, there is the bill for the revision of the Judicial Code, which has the right of way. If any matter comes up which is any way troublesome, Chairman Watkins can call up his Judicial Code bill and sidetrack anything objectionable.

This bill has been before the House on calendar Wednesday for the past four weks, and unless more progress is made on it in the future than in the

as made on it in the future than in the past it will be on the calendar until about adjournment time.

On every second Monday the uanimous consent calendar has the right of way, and, as said before, it is doubtful that either amendment could be acted upon without objection.

REPORT OUT IS VICTORY

FOR ANTIPROHIBITION

While the reporting out of the prohibition bill from the Judiciary Committee has been generally regarded as a nominal victory for the antiliquor folks, the liquor people were as anxjous to get the amendment out of the committee as were the friends of prohibition, and it was really a victory for antiprohibition. The liquor people got the bill out of the committee without a report of any kind. This puts the bill on the shelf. As long as it was in committee it was an embarrassment to Congress as a whole, and the Democratic party in particular. It was impossible for the liquor people to secure an unfavorable report on it, FOR ANTIPROHIBITION

at this session, thereby creating a sentiment against its consideration again next December. Congressman Webb, ranking member on the committee, and who will succeed Congressmittee next month, stated in committee that if the two amendments were laid aside at this session to make way for other imperative measures he would be personally responsible, as chairman of the committee, for reporting both measures to Congress next December with a favorable recommendation. The liquor people thought it best to get the bill out now without a report, and defeat it and prevent the action contemplated by Webb in December, which had all the earmarks of success.

There was almost as much opposition to the Webb liquor bill, prohibiting the transportation of liquor into dry States, as there is now to the Hobson amendment, but Webb secured its passage, and believed he would be successful with this amendment. The prohibition people were also anxious to get the bill out and force the House to act, so that Webb was overruled.

TWO-THIRDS VOTE NEEDED

FOR ADOPTION OF EFITHER A two-thirds vote is necessary for the adoption of either of the constitutional amendments, and the opponents of both measures believe more than one-third of the House membership

This is undoubtedly true in regard to suffrage, but somewhat doubtful with regard to prohibition. A vote on either measure will be vastly different from a vote taken on a bill to prohibit liquor traffic or a bill to grant woman suffrage. A great many Congressmen who would vote against prohibition and suffrage in the form of a conclusive measure do not feel warranted in voting to deny their constituents an opportunity to vote on the question of adopting them as amendments to the Constitution.

Many votes will be gained for a constitutional amendment in the House from Congressmen who are strongly opposed to the measures, but who are willing to "pass them up" to their constitution.
